Dear Editor
This submitted manuscript, titled "Adding Dexmedetomidine to Bupivacaine in Ultrasound Guided Thoracic Paravertebral Block for Pain Management after Upper Abdominal Surgery", was reviewed. It has a good design. The principles of scientific writing are well observed. I did not find any problems in this article.
Sincerely

This is a well-written article, and the authors could examine the effects of dexmedetomidine plus bupivacaine in paravertebral block. They have been able to articulate the effects of this method well. I recommend to the editors that this manuscript be published.
